

Simplify billing + get claims paid on the first submission

Many therapy providers struggle to balance patient care with the numerous administrative tasks required to run a successful practice. Between variability in treatment plans, complicated payer rules, prior authorizations and more, there are many hoops to jump through.

The good news: Billing for therapy services doesn't have to be an ongoing struggle. Here are four key processes Waystar can help you streamline:

1. Coverage verification

If you're calling payers or visiting their online portals to verify patients' insurance or confirm a proposed treatment is covered, it's time to tap into the power of automation. Our Coverage Detection solution simplifies the verification process for self-pay patients and patients with dual coverage, so you can free up resources for higher-value tasks.

2. Claim management

Failing to effectively manage claims throughout their lifecycle can lead to rejections and denials, which hinders cash flow and increases AR days. With Waystar, you can automate claim status checks, streamline attachments and work both commercial and government claims in one place.

3. Denial prevention

A 99% clean claim rate is within reach when you have the right technology behind you. Our platform automatically filters claims that are likely to be rejected or denied into a designated work queue so your team can make corrections before they're submitted.

4. Patient payments

Stay connected to your patients throughout their care journey and offer flexible statement and payment options. By pivoting to electronic statements, your practice can improve revenue and patient satisfaction at the same time.

“Our electronic payment option alone has allowed us to reduce the number of statements we issue by 50%, saving us more than $1,500 per month in postage and printing costs.”
